

2011 ESI Mini-Workshop on Experimental Economics

Monday, December 5

11:55 - 12:00

Welcome

12:00 - 13:00

Paolo Crosetto, Max Planck Institute of Economics. Do Consumers Prefer Offers that are Easy to Compare? An Experimental Investigation

13:00 - 14:15

Lunch

14:15 - 15:15

Natalia Montinari, Max Planck Institute of Economics. The Veil of Fairness: Children Learn to Appear Fair, Not Behave Fairly

15:15 - 16:15

Salmal Qari, Max Planck Institute for Tax Law and Public Finance. Customs compliance and the power of imagination

16:15 - 16:45

Coffee Break

16:45 - 17:45

Nadja Dwenger, Max Planck Institute for Tax Law and Public Finance. Implementing quotas in university admissions: an experimental analysis

17:45 - 18:45

Ondřej Rydval, Max Planck Institute of Economics. tba

18:45 - 20:00

Dinner (BBQ)

Tuesday, December 6

9:30 - 10:30

Fangfang Tan, Max Planck Institute for Tax Law and Public Finance. Peer punishment in a social dilemma game with third-party approval

10:30 - 11:00

Coffee Break

11:00 - 12:00

Federica Alberti, Max Planck Institute of Economics. Full agreement and the provision of threshold public goods

12:00 - 13:00

Lunch

13:00 - 14:00

Ori Weisel, Max Planck Institute of Economics. Social Motives and Social Hormones in Intergroup Relations

14:00 - 15:00

Changxia Ke, Max Planck Institute for Tax Law and Public Finance. Are 'Rockets and Feathers' Caused by Search or Informational Frictions?

15:00 - 15:30

Coffee Break / Snack

15:30 - 16:30

Luisa Herbst, Max Planck Institute for Tax Law and Public Finance. Alliance formation in contests